

Donna is joined in this ministry by Katherine Anne Register. Katherine is a long-time friend and colleague of Donna Crow, and has her own unique skill set developed through her own studies, and trials by fire.

Together they have helped a great deal of people improve or restore their health, through simple education.

For years, my son had violent outbursts on an almost daily basis; biting himself, hitting himself, breaking things, pressing his chin into your chin with all his strength. The violence is something most people don't know about. Most people think of 'Rain Man' autism, but that hasn't been the case with my son. A lot of autistic kids have this violence issue.

The product we purchased from you has calmed him down to such an extent that he rarely has violent outbursts now, and when he does, if you give him some room, it goes away quickly. He now seems to have more energy and is happier.

So far, I couldn't be happier. I'm getting my son back (he's 17 now, and 185 lbs.) I'm very hopeful for the future.

Thanks
Bill

In 1998, at the age of 38 Donna Crow suddenly became seriously ill and found herself mostly bedfast & housebound for the next 18 years.

Based on the best medical knowledge available at that time, the sickness with which she contended was considered incurable. She was unmarried and uninsured, but refused government disability benefits, as she could not reconcile the antithesis of planning to be well and planning to receive disability payments. Creating and merchandising her art, while confined to bed, allowed Donna to survive financially.

During this very challenging season, she also invested herself in reading and research, attempting to find answers that would help her understand and overcome her illness. In the process, she learned a great deal about how to resolve many health issues naturally. As a result, Donna's mother was able to extend her life by nearly ten years beyond what the doctors had predicted, and her step-father was able to overcome symptoms of Parkinson's disease.

Even though Donna was still in the process of overcoming her own health challenges, she began to be recognized as one who had extensive knowledge regarding natural approaches to regaining health. People, including medical doctors, began to seek her assistance in resolving their own health issues.

She has never acted in the capacity of a health care provider who diagnoses and prescribes. Rather, she has acted as an educator, encouraging individuals to become actively involved in restoring their own health through self-education and positive health choices.

After witnessing the positive results of the natural options Donna's mother used to extend her life nearly ten years, her mother's main physician began to successfully incorporate some of these same natural curatives in his medical practice.

In spite of everything Donna learned, she was unable to completely restore her own health. Traditional medicine was unable to offer her any hope, and though she may have found answers in the integrative, or alternative, health community, she lacked the funds to pursue that option.

The utter impossibility of the situation caused her to press in and seek the knowledge she needed in order to connect with God and experience supernatural intervention. In 2006, after suffering 18 years of incurable illness, she experienced a sudden and miraculous healing in her own home, in response to her own private prayer based on the Word of God.

As is the case with many people, Donna's life work has grown out of her life experiences and the knowledge gained therein.

After experiencing miraculous healing, she sought a more formal education, hoping to build on the knowledge she had she gained through independent studies. She contends, however, that the education she received studying independently is far superior to the knowledge she gained through her formal college education.

Donna strongly believes in self-empowerment through self-education. In 2010, she founded Fountain of Life Healing School, where individuals are given basic health instruction, and are taught how to research, and self-educate regarding both natural and supernatural (Biblical) methods of increasing their health and well-being.

It has been the experience of Fountain of Life Healing School, that the physical and emotional health of individuals often dramatically improves as they learn, understand, and implement basic principles of healthy living.

I was having a serious migraine when I called asking for help. Donna shared EFT with me and much to my amazement my headache was gone before I got off the phone. I am still amazed.
